The Interplay Between Women's Rights, Domestic Violence, and the Second Amendment

Seminar or Event

9.05.24

Event Sponsor: Hispanic National Bar Association

Hispanic National Bar Association Annual Convention

Tamires M. Oliveira, an associate in the firm's Family Law Department, will be a panelist for a presentation on "The Interplay Between Women's Rights, Domestic Violence, and the Second Amendment" at the Hispanic National Bar Association Annual Convention in Washington, DC. The program is scheduled for Friday, September 6, 2024, from 2:15pm - 3:30pm.

Pending before U.S. Supreme Court (SCOTUS) is a case that would regulate the second amendment. If SCOTUS upholds the provisions of the Violence Against Women's Act, there would be a strict understanding that the second amendment may be regulated. The decision is still pending before the court. This panel will discuss this potential development, with a particular focus on its impact on survivors of domestic violence.

Ms. Oliveira, a member of the HNBA, assists in the firm's representation of clients in the area of family law. Her work encompasses matters related to divorce and separation proceedings, child custody and support, alimony, marital settlement agreements, domestic partnerships, prenuptial and postnuptial agreements, domestic violence cases, the valuation and distribution of marital assets, and post-judgment enforcement and modification applications.

Additional details and registration for the HNBA Annual Convention here.

Related Attorneys

Tamires M. Oliveira

Associate

732.476.2390

Email