Steven Nudelman, Chair of the firm's Construction Contracting & Risk Management Practice Group, will serve as moderator for a workshop presentation on "What Every Construction Lawyer Needs to Know About International Arbitration" at the American Bar Association (ABA) Forum on Construction Law 2024 Annual Meeting, which will be held April 11-13 in New Orleans, LA.

Many construction disputes, international or not, are contractually subject to international arbitration rules. Mr. Nudelman is session coordinator and will also moderate Workshop D on April 12 from 11:30am - 12:30pm. The workshop will walk attendees through the unique aspects of international arbitration and show the differences - and surprising similarities - between international and domestic arbitration.

The ABA Forum on Construction Law Annual Meeting is attended by hundreds of construction industry attorneys and other professionals. The event programming covers a broad spectrum of topics relevant to both litigation and transactional practices, and to outside and in-house counsel.

A partner in the firm's Litigation and Real Estate Departments, Mr. Nudelman concentrates his practice in construction law. For over 25 years he has represented members of the construction industry across a broad spectrum of matters. On the transactional side, Mr. Nudelman works with owners and developers, construction managers, general contractors, subcontractors and design professionals to prepare and negotiate contract documents for construction in the New Jersey and New York metropolitan area. His construction contracting work helps his clients manage the risk inherent in construction projects so they may adequately protect their interests now to avoid claims in the future. When disputes are unavoidable, Mr. Nudelman draws upon his wide-ranging experience in construction litigation, representing clients in state and federal courts throughout the New Jersey/New York metropolitan area, as well as in local and international mediations and arbitrations.
