Greenaum partner James A. Robertson, who leads the firm's Healthcare practice, will be a panelist at Withum's Healthcare Symposium 2026, a virtual event scheduled for Tuesday, December 8, 2026, from 11:00am – 3:00pm.

This year's symposium will feature presentations by industry experts on key topics impacting the healthcare business sector. The event will bring together healthcare leaders to discuss the trends, challenges, and opportunities shaping the future of healthcare, including innovation, financial sustainability, workforce transformation, and emerging technologies.

Jim will be a panelist for a session on "OBBBA & Post-Election Impacts: What Healthcare Organizations Need to Know" from 2:00pm – 2:50pm. As healthcare organizations prepare for the next wave of legislative and regulatory change, understanding the implications of the One Big Beautiful Bill Act (OBBBA) and the post-election policy environment has become increasingly important. This session, featuring panelists representing provider, advisory, legal and strategy perspectives, will examine potential impacts on healthcare organizations. Attendees will learn what healthcare leaders should be monitoring today and will gain insight into assessing how organizations can prepare for future policy shifts that may reshape the industry.

The keynote address, "An Inside Look at Healthcare Leadership & Policy," will be delivered by Brendan Carr, CEO of Mount Sinai Health System. Two additional sessions will address financial leadership and M&A in the healthcare sector.

The complete symposium agenda and registration is available on Withum's website.
