- Strategic advisor to middle market employers, senior executives, board members and other clients in the areas of employee benefits, executive compensation, ERISA, taxation and employment law
- Deep technical experience in the administration, qualification, negotiation, and drafting of retirement plans, health and welfare plans, compensation arrangements, employment and separation agreements, and other critical documents
- Provides technical advice related to IRC Sections 409A, 280G, and 83, as well as ACA, FMLA, HIPAA, and COBRA compliance, including representation in corrective actions before the IRS, DOL, PBGC and state agencies.

Tom brings broad-based expertise to his representation of clients in the related areas of employee benefits, executive compensation, ERISA, taxation and employment law. He provides sophisticated counsel to middle market publicly and privately held business owners and employers, senior and C-suite executives, Boards of Directors and Board Committees. He also works closely with finance and human resources executives and external professional advisors and is often engaged by high-level business executives to advise on their personal legal requirements.

Tom provides expertise in the negotiation, structuring and drafting of executive employment and separation agreements. He is deeply experienced in equity and incentive non-equity based qualified and non-qualified retirement and compensation plans, ERISA Title I fiduciary issues, stock option and deferred compensation arrangements, plan distribution, qualification and administration issues, Qualified Domestic Relations Orders (QDROs), and employee health and welfare plans. His practice also includes the drafting of employee handbooks and other employment-related policies.

He advises clients on compliance with Sections 83, 409A and 280G of the Internal Revenue Code, the Affordable Care Act, HIPAA, and COBRA, and represents clients in negotiations related to benefit issues and corrective actions with the Internal Revenue Services, the U.S. Department of Labor, and the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

Tom also works closely with other attorneys in the firm on business transactions and sophisticated estate planning matters.
